DEDICATION

Living on the Island has given us a unique view of life that very few other people have had the opportunity to experience. We have come to appreciate the inherent sense of togetherness that has laid the foundations for amiable coexistence. From the solitude of South Beach on a moonlit evening to friendly conversations on the main streets of our towns. With summers that bring the "off islanders" and their hectic lifestyle and winters when the Island is once again our own. We feel that the Island has made us what we are. So, we, the class of 1973, dedicate our yearbook to "island life" and the everlasting impressions that it has made on us.

CLASS OF 1974

For the past three years, our class has been struggling to unite; and in this past year, we've finally come together. In this one year we have scraped together enough money to carry on the tradition of having a prom, which we will theme, "Nights in White Satin." We made and sold wreaths before Christmas and have had a few food sales to raise money. It has taken three years, but I guess it's better late than never!

CLASS OF 1975

The class of 1975 has been working hard this year to start thinking of the school years to come. We started this year by working in the summer with a coffee shop for the summer session of the High School. Having food sales, selling candy, and holding a raffle are among the other money-raising events that we have held this year. We are hoping to come up with more ideas for helping our class.

Our aims as a class are to have a successful prom and graduation. We also want to be trusted by other people and to have the experience of working with people.

CLASS OF 1976

The first year has been quite hectic for us so far. Our main concern has been organizing everything the way we want it.

Mrs. Edith Johnson and Mr. Tyrus Houston were appointed as our class advisors. We elected Chester Cook as president, Lynda Aiguier, vice-president, Annette Moreis, secretary, Corey Metell, treasurer, and Diane Figueiredo, historian. Our student council members are Christine Flanders, Donald Bagnall, and Debbie White.

We have a candy store set up in the cafeteria and in the future we hope to sell stationery as well as have food sales to raise money for our junior prom. We are looking forward to our next three years, which we hope will be successful as well as prosperous.

STUDENT COUNCIL

As of this writing, the Student Council has now helped get back the open-ended day for seniors. We have had special meetings in the gym, which have been fairly well attended by any and all interested students. We are right now looking at projects to tackle, which would be beneficial to the whole school. All our regular meetings are open to students and teachers alike. We are being fairly represented at all school committee meetings with two of the five members being student council members.

Being a sophomore and president of the Student Council has not been easy on me, but this will definitely be a year that I'll never forget. My thanks to all the members of the Council who have helped me through; to the students who have talked to me and offered their opinions; to Mr. Pachico, our advisor, and a special thanks to Philip Hale.

DRIVER EDUCATION

Mr. Adams has conducted driver education for many a year. He has helped many students down the long road to permits and drivers' licenses. Although it is a trying experience for one and all, Mr. Adams always has a smile on his face and one in his heart. We hope he will continue his good work of instruction for our students for a long time to come.

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF 1973

The year 1970 was the beginning of a new decade, but it was also the beginning for our class. As we rode up to the high school that day, we suddenly realized that we were no longer "big shot" eighth-graders but "dumb little freshmen." No one knew exactly what we were up against. Only one thing was certain; we were finally in high school. Being in high school, as we found out, means many different things: schedules, classes, new teachers, new classmates, lockers, combinations, and mostly getting lost; but with the help of our class advisor and fellow classmates, somehow we made it through those crucial weeks. After our big adjustment, we elected our class officers who were Ann Frieh, secretary; Ken Hyde, treasurer; and Melba Orr, historian, and tried to do the things a class needs to get done. Out advisors, Mrs. Burt and Mr. Custer, helped Orland Donald, our president, and John Schilling, our vice president to get things started. During our first year we actually did quite well. We made money by food sales, mod days, and by selling stationery.

When the summer turned to fall, there came the realization that we had made it to our second year of high school. Yes, we were sophomores now, but school was different. Instead of the regular 8 periods-a-day schedule, we were faced with the new rotating schedule, which was not only new to the students, but to the teachers as well. There was no change in class officers this year, but we did get new advisors — Mrs. Anthony and Mr. Mayhew. We had the usual food sales and raffles, but we wanted to think of something new and original that would work. Well, it was decided that we would take one of the closets in the hall and turn it into a store that would sell school supplies. We had a lot of cooperation from our class — but the store only lasted 2 months, if that; but we didn't give up. Somehow with the good ol' reliable food sales we increased our treasury enough so that now "our prom" seemed possible. With a few miracles, we made it through the new schedule system, our store (failure), and our year as sophomores.

Well, that fall we returned, only this time as juniors. We were again faced with another new schedule system: the variable modular system which allowed more "free-time" for the student. We elected the class officers for the ensuing year. They were: Orland Donald, president; Linda Gaines, vice-president; Ann Frieh, secretary; Kathy Santos, treasurer; and Melba Orr, Historian. With the prom just around the corner, we needed money and fast. We decided to work on something really big, so our class tackled the play, "You Can't Take it With You." Under the direction of Steven Cronig and Mr. Daria, we successfully performed our play in the spring. This added income made our play seem like a reality instead of a dream. Another money-raising event of the year was a mother-daughter father-son basketball game. In November our class decided to get moving on the prom. Robin Cullen was chosen as chairman and Ann Frieh as assistant-chairman. We found that putting on a prom was easier said than done. It was decided to have our prom at the Harborview Hotel, and for the theme we chose "Here Comes the Sun" from the Beatles' album, Abbey Road. As many classes have found, the hardest and most important part of a prom is the decorations. Ours were all centered around an imitation garden and a beautiful sunrise mural. The evening of May 13 suddenly came upon us. Yes, our prom was finally here. As always, the junior girls were especially nervous that night. Each hoping and wishing that they would become queen. For seven lucky girls, a wish of all time came true. The court was slowly picked out of a long line of girls: Linda Gaines, Julie Norton, Carmen Tankard, Cheryl Alwardt, Janet Cottle, and Joan Johnson. Then the awaited moment came. As the band played our theme song, Lynn Hodges was crowned queen.

To see us through our final year, we once again elected Orland Donald as our president; Linda Gaines, vice-president; Ann Frieh, secretary; Kathy Santos, treasurer; and Melba Orr, historian. Even though it was our last year, we still had a lot of work to do preparing for graduation.

Our big projects for our senior year included a senior semi-formal entitled "An Old Fashioned Christmas" with Carolyn McIntosh as chairman. On that night, Ann Frieh was selected as queen with Linda Gaines and Betsy Feil as her court. Other projects were the senior class play. "They Gave Him a Co-ed" directed by Mr. Daria, and the publication of the 1973 Vineyarder with Harvey Garneau as editor and Barbara Morgan as Business manager.

How can it be that four years of our lives have passed us already? Well, we might as well face up to it, they have. Now we have got to look ahead and think about our futures. Everyone is busy making decisions about whether college is for them or if they should take a year off or just work. Whatever the future holds for the class of 1973, every one of us will save these special memories from the past four years that we have spent together. At the end of this year we will be going our separate ways. It won't be the end of our class, though, for out of the class of 1973 there came beautiful friendships that will last forever.

Our class of 1973 will long be remembered as one of organization, success, and cooperation. Though we have been through six advisors and four scheduling systems, progress always continued. It will be a sad farewell when we graduate this June, but our class will always carry with it a deep sense of friendship and pride.

REFLECTIONS

We, the class of 1973, in looking back over the past years, have found a multitude of memories and reflections that have become part of our lives. So, we are dedicating the senior section of this book to the multiple images we hope to carry with us as time takes us further away from them.

To the beauty and simplicity of West Tisbury, Chilmark, and Gay Head; to Newport castles and the T-bird; to watching sunsets at Peaked Hill; to Saturdays at the football games, our No. 1 basketball team; to summers at Katama; to a certain lovely person; to journeys through the State Forest; to my great, great, great, great, great, great, great, great, Grandfather Thomas Mayhew who settled the Island; to eloquence; to "Listen to the Warm", Chris' 10-speed and Katama; to the only one; to dawn; to Josef, smiles, and gay Paris; to true and unbroken friendship; to Martha, Pete, Ag, Stet, and Dot; to West Chop; to the beginning after the end; to the hideaway, South Beach and being together; to Lambert's Cove; to football, great coaches, and finally a winning season; to the summer winds in far-off places; to the never-ending procession of waves at South Beach; to love, life, and laughter; to long talks with close friends; and to future dreams in hopes that they come true.

"Would you tell me, please, which way I ought to go from here?" asked Alice.

"That depends a good deal on where you want to get to," said the Cheshire Cat.

"I don't much care where;" said Alice, "so long as I get somewhere."

"Then it really doesn't matter which way you go," replied the Cat.
